

Dear FCC Commissioners & Staff:

it;s a day late, as I only saw the link today on Slashdot.org, but I would hate to see my DSL ISP locked out of Qwest's network. Long story short, qwest will say DSL? yah, here is MSN DSL through us, that will be about $40 for the data capable line, and $40 for the MSN ISP and content you have access to. Currently I pay about $40 for the data on the copper to Qwest's D-Marc and then $20 to VISI.com for my IP and access to the web.

Sincerely,

James Haley
